

Could you live without Loupes?

Lucky Winner of The Dental Circle prize draw, Laura Warburton explains how she wouldn't be without Univet Loupes from Optident

'As a dentist I'm acutely aware of bringing the best possible technological advances to the forefront when dealing with patients who require both basic and more demanding dental procedures. On a very practical note one of the major contributors to this process is the use of dental loupes which allow me to get the most accurate visual state of play when examining patients teeth and carrying out associated dental procedures.

'I have used loupes ever since I began to practice and they have become an essential and intrinsic part of my everyday working routine. I certainly feel that without them an important and vital element of ensuring best possible treatment for my patients would be lost.

'I have always used Univet loupes from Optident. They are a leading brand whose quality is undeniable, comfort is personally tailored and, importantly, value for money is excellent across the product range. I have never been disappointed with my loupes and the confidence I have in using them is second to none.'

Invaluable

'High magnification and sharp resolution, ease of wear and the overall comfort of loupes to reduce eye strain during prolonged dental procedures, has proved invaluable to me. I personally regard the use of dental loupes as an essential tool for any dentist and I have no hesitation in recommending any of the range manufactured by Univet. Indeed, for many of my colleagues I have already done so and have been given very positive feedback.

I also find my loupes useful when carrying out facial aesthetics treatments (anti wrinkle injections and such).

As a relatively 'young' dentist with aspirations for the future, particularly in terms of ongoing professional development, I know I will continue to use dental loupes for whatever situation I find myself in. My choices to date in respect of using Univet loupes from Optident have been excellent. I look forward to using them again and again.'

For more information on loupes visit www.optident.co.uk or call 01943 60 50 50.

Univet is one of the only companies in the world that can offer complete lines of magnification systems and safety eyewear in so many diversified sectors (industrial, medical, and laser). The interaction between these sectors facilitates the development of products characterised by innovative and original solutions, always meeting market demands. In addition, the careful ergonomic study of frames is combined with an extreme attention to their design for a fresh conception of comfort and style.

Currently a self-employed associate Dentist at Oasis Dental Care, Heckmondwike, Leeds. Laura Warburton is a young, enthusiastic, passionate & confident dentist who, following five years study at Leeds University, graduated in 2011 with 'Merit' in Dentistry, & was awarded the prize for excellence in 'Prosthetics'. With many more strings to her bow, Laura is continuing her education path to become a leading clinician in her field.

